

about 160 A.D.

Easter was introduced into Rome, and as in Alexandria was celebrated on the Sunday following the Hebrew Passover, which for practical purposes could be reckoned as the Sunday following the first full moon after the Spring Equinox